

Do you have Maple trees?

The following options require varying levels of knowledge and investment to produce sap and syrup from trees you may already own.

Do it yourself

Tap trees and collect sap via bags, buckets or tubing.

Once you've collected sap, will you produce your own syrup?

No.

Sell the unprocessed sap in bulk.

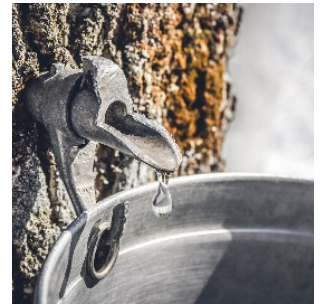

Yes.

Build a sugarhouse where you can boil and bottle syrup.

Lease taps for an annual income

THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY
COLLEGE OF FOOD, AGRICULTURAL,
AND ENVIRONMENTAL SCIENCES